Learner's Expectations:

The Learner would like to experiment participating in new intervention methodologies, that he has nor already been able to be involved in (institution and community). He would like to improve his skills in several domains, like social interaction, expression capacities in verbal and non-verbal communication, better understanding of others e enhanced capacity to comunicate with them. The learner wants also to gain a higher resilience to frustration, learning techniques that help him to cope with situations that lead to anxiety.

Family/legal tutor Expectations:

Pedro's family expects that by his participation in the programme activities, he shall be able to improve his autonomy and well-being. They would also like that he woulda manage to increase his interaction and communication skills, regarding his relationship with the family and all his social context members.

Does the Learner present as Areas of Interest two or more Project Intervention Models?

- Yes                       No

Does the project meet the Learner’s expectations?

- Yes                       No                       Partial

Does the project meet the family/legal tutor expectations?

- Yes                       No                       Partial

Evaluator’s technical opinion on the candidate:

Pedro is a curious young man that enjoys being with his colleagues and technicians. He loves to communicate with others, despite not always being able to do it in the most adequate form, just talking about subjects that he is interested in and not being available to be interrupted or to let others penetrate in this personal sphere. Whenever he tries to listen to his colleagues, Pedro easily loses himself, revealing a certain degree of difficulty in understanding what the others are trying to tell him. Being in situations that he is not used to deal with, Pedro shuts himself inside him, in a mental block, demonstrating that he his not able to solve problems and face unexpected situations. So, he is a young man with a lot of fears, low sel-esteem and sel-confidence. Pedro's participation in the project will give him an opportunity to improve his relationship skills, as well as the undestanding e acceptance of his personal characteristics, giving him a chance to experience new intervention methodologies, to know new technicians and new colleagues that could help him to become a more confident, autonomous, socially active and participant young man.
